

Digital TV

CanalDigitaal no longer offers analogue channels, therefore we can only offer you Digital TV in high HD-quality. You will need a digital receiver for this or a TV which can receive a digital signal.

How do you know if your tv is suitable for digital tv?

If you have one of the below given signs on your tv, then you can experience your tv with HD! Furthermore you will need a HDMI-connection. With these tv's you only have to search for the channels. This can be done by means of searching via antenne (not cable) and then for DTV. If your tv does not find a signal then your tv does not have a digital receiver and you will need the HD-receiver below.

Want to buy a HD-receiver?

Be aware that if you want to buy a HD-receiver that you will need one with a certification of CanalDigitaal at our park. Would you like to be sure that you bought the right one, then you can buy a digital receiver (incl. HDMI cable) at the reception. The costs are € 50,00.
